DANGER IN EAST

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 6.—Relations between Afghanistan and Great Britain depend upon the attitude of Britain towards Turkey. It was declared by the Afghan ambassador to the Turkish Nationalist government in the course of an address at a luncheon at Angora yesterday. He declared his country would stand by Turkey and would declare war on Great Britain if that country took the part of the Greeks. He asserted that if the British gave secret support to Greece, Afghanistan would stir up intrigues between tribes on the northwestern frontier of India.

GRAND FALLS STRIKE OVER PLANT STARTS UP AGAIN ON MONDAY— COMPROMISE EFFECTED BETWEEN WORKERS AND COMPANY

WE WERE SHOWN A MESSAGE THIS MORNING WHICH SAID THAT THE A. N. D. CO. PLANT AT GRAND FALLS WILL START UP WORK ON MONDAY, A COMPROMISE AGREEMENT HAVING BEEN ENTERED INTO BETWEEN THE WORKERS AND THE COMPANY. THE WHOLE COUNTRY WILL REJOICE AT THIS GOOD NEWS, AS UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS, THE COUNTRY MUST REALIZE WHAT A GREAT ASSET THESE PAPER MILLS ARE IN THE WAY OF PROVIDING LABOUR, ETC.

WE CONGRATULATE THE MEN AND THE A. N. D. CO. IN COMING TO AN AGREEMENT AND HOPE THAT IN A FEW WEEKS THE WORK WILL BE IN FULL SWING AGAIN.

Both the "Telegram" and "Daily News" are being pushed to make trouble about the Dept. of Education. They have devoted editorial space to Dr. Barnes in no niggardly fashion recently. What the object is seems to be an overwrought attempt to justify the criticism that has been levelled at the Dept. of Education since its inception. They have lent their aid to condemn the policy of supervisors. Now that they realize what has happened and that for the reason which Dr. Barnes gives in his letter printed at the end of this article, the appointments of the supervisors are being deferred by the Government, they turn round and condemn the Government for so doing. Why all this camouflage and beating about the bush? Why this change of front? How comes it that papers which have advocated that Educational progress be made have fallen down on the job, and relegated this subject to the besmirched and dirty arena of politics?

If Dr. Barnes described some of the criticism levelled at him as "puerile," he was perfectly justified in doing so. If he described some parts of the Telegram editorial last night as disgustingly personal he would be quite right.

Before putting the blame for the suspension of the policy of supervisors for a year upon Dr. Barnes, the Opposition papers should read again the letter which that gentleman sent to these supervisors, which letter appeared in the "News" this morning and is as follows:

August 2nd, 1921.

Sir,—I have the honour to inform you that after repeated attempts, it has been found impossible to secure the unanimous decision of the heads of the different religious denominations in this country respecting the assignment of the Supervisors to their various fields. The Government, therefore, has reluctantly decided to defer their appointment for one year, or until such time as a mutual agreement shall have been reached.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
Sgd. A. BARNES,
Minister of Education.

JOBS, PANICS AND COMMON SENSE.

The following is an editorial taken from a recent issue of the "Montreal Star":

Nearly 150,000 wage-earners are unemployed in Canada today and there is every prospect that, unless some heroic measures are adopted, this number will be doubled by Christmas. The official figures supplied by Ottawa give cause for the gravest concern. If the anxiety which they raise is lightly brushed aside as something unpleasant to think about in these halcyon summer days, the problem will fester through neglect; if, on the other hand, the authorities are thrown into panic, their alarm will only act as an irritant.

Broadly, it may be stated that stocks of staple necessities and luxuries were at a very low ebb at the time of the Armistice. There followed a period of refilling the warehouses and stores and the mills and factories worked at capacity. Partly owing to the shortage of supply and partly owing to a psychological condition that the war created, wages went skyrocketing and this was followed, as high wages are always followed, by a period of extravagant living and wastefulness. The reaction which was bound to come fell upon this continent, and to a lesser extent on other countries, with a most disturbing suddenness. There was a lull in purchasing by the ultimate consumer and merchandise was thrown on the market in such quantity that prices tumbled and the delicate equilibrium of prices and distribution was upset. Factories began to close down, staffs were reduced, trade grew dull, which is the same as saying there was unemployment.

It is no good crying over spilt milk, nor repining over the dollars that were spent for eighteen months in vulgar extravagance. It will be better if we can say with Kipling, "We have had a jolly good lesson and it serves us jolly well right." Admitting the unemployment, how can present conditions best be relieved and how can we escape the slough of despond which the gloomy ones predict for us?

Obviously we must avoid pessimism and panic. Those who are able should continue to spend sanely and to the limit of their resources. There should be prudence; but parsimony on the part of those who are able to purchase freely will be as unpatriotic and as selfish as was the orgy of spending. Further, there should be a campaign for the encouragement of thrift, such as the Government carried on during the critical war days. "It is not much good talking of savings banks when a man is spending his dollar to buy food," says the out-of-work. As a matter of fact, he is utterly wrong. Any physiologist or student of social economics knows that the propaganda for thrift finds its most fallow soil at the very moment of national or individual reaction. The spendthrift is more likely to translate his "I won't be such a fool again" into the concrete action of depositing the first dollar of his earnings in the bank, if he is saturated with teachings of the boon of thrift at the time of lowest ebb. Moreover, thrift is a proved stimulus to exertion.

A heavy responsibility rests upon the employers and capitalists at this time. The ideal employer will be daring without being foolhardy and will take risks when selfishness might prompt him to let well enough alone. It will be the duty of the Government to give a lead to the people by discouraging in every possible way that form of public extravagance which is enervating to the statesmen and a cancer on the country. Grandiose schemes must be set aside "until a more convenient season," unless they are such that at least ninety per cent of the expenditure is consumed in labor.

Summary Of Imperial Conference Is Given

Rights of Indians to British Citizenship Favored By All Except South Africa

LONDON, August 5.—That there existed some misconception of President Harding's invitation for conference for the discussion of the armament limitation and Pacific questions, is indicated by a summary of proceedings of the Imperial Conference issued this evening at the conclusion of the last session of that body. In accordance with the suggestion which was believed to have been made by the United States Government that the conference on disarmaments should be preceded by friendly conversation or consultations between powers principally concerned in the future of the far east and the Pacific, says the summary, the Imperial Conference is anxious that for Anglo-Japanese agreement there should be substituted some larger arrangement between three great powers concerned, namely United States, Japan, and Great Britain, and holding firm convictions that later discussions on disarmaments to which they attached transcendent importance could be made effective by previous mutual understanding on pacific questions between those powers discussing these preliminary conversations or consultation which the United States Government had in principle agreed should be held in London. "When it transpired," continues the summary, "that there was some misunderstanding as to the nature of the suggested preliminary conversations, the British Government, in desire to remove any possible misconception and to meet what it believed to be the United States view, volunteered to attend a meeting on the other side of the Atlantic, at which Agenda of Washington Conference could be discussed. Premier Lloyd George, Marquis Carson and Dominion Premiers were prepared to attend such meeting if invited by the United States Government. Japan also had signified her willingness to attend. The United States Government however did not favor the idea, which accordingly was dropped.

"At no stage was it suggested that the result of such consultation should either anticipate work of the Washington Conference. On the other hand the Imperial Conference made proposal because it was anxious to remove every possible obstacle from the path of the Washington meeting which it desired to see attended with complete success."

The summary declares that the greater part of the proceedings of the Imperial Conference relating to foreign affairs and defense was of a confidential character, but that discussion revealed an unanimous opinion as to the main lines to be followed by the British policy and a deep conviction that the whole weight of the Empire should be concentrated behind understanding and common action in foreign affairs. Frequent consultations were decided upon. The matter of naval defence was left to various parliaments as was the question of the Im-

BIG BUSH FIRES

Peterboro and Vicinity Shrouded in Smoke

PETERBORO, Ont., July 21.—Bush fires are burning somewhere in the north of Peterboro County, presumably in the vicinity of Deer Bay. Difficulty of communication with the has so far made it possible to ascertain the location of the fires or their extent. A thick haze hangs over the city, and at the summer resorts at Chemung Lake and Burleigh Falls the smoke is so thick that it is impossible to see across the lake.

FIGHTING HER OWN DESTINY

CHAPTER XIII.

The former was considered—and justly so—the proudest and most exclusive woman in London. Yet she set herself to please Lady Charnleigh. She introduced her noblest guests to her; she brought her son, the heir of the House, Lord Falcon, to her; and people whispered that it would not be displeasing to her grace if the young lord should eventually win the fair heiress. It would be a most suitable arrangement. His Grace of Rockhampton—who seldom wasted many minutes in talking to ladies—seemed enchanted with her. To those who understood such things it was very evident that a dual coronet might in time fall to the lot of Leonie, Lady Charnleigh.

Everything was so novel to her that her thoughts did not run much either on love or lovers. To look at that most lovely and radiant face was enough to make one happy. Sweetest smiles rippled over the peaceful lips; the violet eyes shone like stars. She enjoyed herself, and was not ashamed of showing it. Lord Falcon was unwilling to leave her.

"I have never found a ball so pleasant as this," he said to her, and she looked at him with a smile.

"In all probability I shall never find another so pleasant; it is my first."

There came an interval between the dances.

"Have you seen the ferns grouped in the dining-room?" he asked her.

No, she had not seen them, and Lord Falcon, only too happy to have her to himself for a few minutes, led the way.

"My dear mother has but one decided mania," he said, as they walked through the broad, fragrant, brilliantly lighted corridor; "and that is for ferns. I do not care for them, but she sees something wonderful in them and is supposed to have the finest collection in England; some of the best and most wonderful are grouped here. The duchess wished to make the world envious, I suppose."

The dining room was lighted with innumerable wax tapers, which threw a soft, pearly light; and Leonie, standing among the ferns, made a lovely picture. At the other end of the room she saw a gentleman standing before a picture; he was evidently admiring or criticising it. Sometimes the grand statuesque attitude of that tall, stately figure struck her with admiration; he turned suddenly, and she saw a kindly, Saxon head with fair clustering hair, and a fair, frank, handsome face.

It was the handsomest face, she thought to herself, that she had ever seen—such a face as women love and children trust, full of loyalty, of noble simplicity—a face that could be as tender as a woman's, yet stern and severe when need should be. With her quick fanciful imagination Lady Charnleigh made all men heroes.

A sudden desire seized her that the light of that face should be turned upon her, and then she became conscious that Lord Falcon had been speaking to her for some time, and her face flushed.

"I crave pardon, Lady Charnleigh; if your thoughts are really so far away that you cannot hear, I will not intrude."

"Pray pardon me," she said. She was just going to add, "Who is that gentleman?" when she paused; it would not do to let Lord Falcon know how entirely her mind had been occupied with a stranger while he was by her side. Leonie, Lady Charnleigh, was growing worldly-wise.

She was saying all further wonder by the stranger's suddenly catching a glimpse of Lord Falcon, upon which he came forward quickly, and the greeting between the two was warm and cordial. Then Lord Falcon introduced Sir Bertram Gordon to the Countess of Charnleigh, and a new life-drama was begun.

The grand Saxon head, with its clustering hair, was bent before her, and Leonie's face grew warm as two keen, clear eyes frankly met her own.

"I have heard so much and so often of you, Lady Charnleigh, that it gives me the greatest delight to meet you."

She was accustomed to compliments, but something in the ring of this voice told her he was speaking truth. Suddenly the soft sweet strains of the "Soldaten Lied" floated through the open doors. Lord Falcon looked at his companion.

"Lady Charnleigh, if I were fond of quotations I could use one now—'With thee conversing I forget all time.' I am engaged for this dance to Miss Hylton, and it has begun—what shall I do?"

"Hasten to atone for your forgetfulness."

"And you?" he said. Sir Bertram at once stepped forward.

If Lady Charnleigh will accept my escort, I shall feel most honored."

Her face flushed again, her hand trembled as it touched his arm. "What is coming to me?" thought the girl, impatiently. "Surely I am not growing nervous and awkward."

"Are you engaged for this, wait?" asked Sir Bertram, suddenly, and the

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Chairman Morris presided. Commissioners Peet, Collier, Jackman, and Mullaly were present.

After the minutes of the previous meetings were confirmed the following business was disposed of.

The Prime Minister, replying to the Council's application for a proportion of the special allocation of $500,000, stated that this grant was for the construction of roads to Springdale, Badger, etc., and was not on a per capita basis, but to provide work for the unemployed. Men from all sections of the country were engaged including those from the city.

A communication was read from the Manager of the Newfoundland Atlantic Fisheries stating the throwing of debris into the water near their premises would be discontinued.

Mr. L. G. Chafe asked that Springdale Street be repaired. The grading of this street is being attended to. A communication was read from the Hon. Secty. Regatta Committee thanking the Council for loan of seats on Regatta Day.

A petition was received from residents of Pleasant St., (LeMerchant Road to Cornwall Avenue) asking that the road running parallel to Pleasant Street from LeMerchant Road through McLoughlin Estate be reopened and graded for the convenience of Petitioners. The property referred to is owned by private parties and the Council cannot accede to the wishes of the Petitioners. Thos. Stamp applied for the work of repairing fence, Battery Road. This was referred to the Engineer and Road Inspector.

M. McDonald's request that the hopper fronting his dwelling, Flower Hill, be removed was acceded to.

Summary of Imperial Conference Is Given

perial communication. It was decided to improve the wireless link, while various Governments recommended the introduction of uniform legislation regarding bills of lading. Any assistance given the Government for reduction of rates for press messages, it was agreed, should be so directed as not to affect the quality of the News service or freedom of newspapers so served. A resolution was passed, with South Africa dissenting, that the rights of British Indians to citizenship should be recognized. Representatives of India expressed their profound concern at the position of Indians in South Africa and their hope that in negotiations between the Governments of India and South Africa some way might be found to make their position more satisfactory. The meeting of the Committee of Representatives of patent offices of dominions will be held in London to consider practicability of instituting a system for granting patents which would be valid throughout the Empire. It was agreed that in view of the consultation of Premiers no advantage was to be gained by holding the proposed constitutional conference.

LONDON, August 6.—None of the imprisoned members of the Dail Eireann has been liberated, but it is considered certain that the Government will place nothing in the way of their release, and they will be free to attend sittings of Dail Eireann when that body convenes to discuss peace proposals. Meetings of Ulster Cabinet and Dail Eireann "Cabinet" were held to-day. So far as is known however they were not directly connected with hitherto unsuccessful efforts to bring about agreement between North and South preliminary to Tripartite Conference at London. Republican "Cabinet" confined itself to consideration of Dail Eireann meeting while Colonel Spender, Secretary of the Ulster Cabinet, announced at the conclusion of its deliberations that the question of peace had been touched upon only incidentally. Notwithstanding lack of definite action immediate connected with peace or of even a hint of such action, confidence continues to prevail in political circles in London that there is no likelihood of a breakdown in negotiations.

LONDON, August 5.—That practical results of the Washington conference cannot be reckoned upon with any degree of confidence is the conclusion of the Japanese press and public opinion in Japan, according to a long statement communicated to the London newspapers by the Japanese Embassy.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The Carpenter-Gibbons fight, planned for the first part of October, has been postponed for several weeks because of the injury Carpenter received to his hand when he fought Jack Dempsey.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Austria will appeal to the Allied Supreme Council which meets in Paris Monday for immediate financial aid on the grounds that the local scheme for rehabilitation of remnants of the Dual Monarchy has failed thus far to function.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—Seven persons are dead at Stuartburn near Dominion City, Manitoba, as a result of eating poisonous fungi in belief that they were mushrooms, according to word received here this afternoon. The deaths wipe out an entire family consisting of Fred Sueka, his wife, and five children. The only survivor was a six months' old baby.

Es.d. And Other Terms

(London Times)
In the interview published on our last issue Sir Ernest Shackleton championed Polar exploration against the attacks of the "practical man." He returned to the theme at a garden party given by Mr. F. E. Becker, one of the "backers" of his approaching Antarctic expedition.

To a great many (he said) the Polar expedition might seem futile, but explorers did not go out primarily for their spinal column nor other bones.

economic reasons. The total cost of Polar exploration in the last 100 years had been £2,000,000; the total economic results had been £25,000,000 by the discovery of harbours and whale oil, and by magnetic and scientific results. On the human side it was a desire to go into unknown, to see things that no man had ever seen and to go on until all was known: that had been the mainspring of life.

HAVE WORMS ANY BONES?
No; worms, like insects, have no spinal column nor other bones.

Brigade Supporting Orphanage Outing

The C.L.B.C. Athletic Association met in the Armoury last evening, when the sports programme for Wednesday's Garden Party at Shannon Munn grounds was drawn up and arrangements made regarding the carrying out of same. Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., M.H.A., will be in charge of the field arrangements, and an enjoyable evening's sport is guaranteed all who attend. The pony races will as usual be a feature of the affair, whilst the field regatta is also included. The C.L.B.C. Pyramid Squad will give an exhibition, under the supervision of C.S.M. Rendell and as a fitting close to the day's sport a big dance will be held at Smithville, the C.L.B.C. Band furnishing the music.

The Walking Terror of Spiritism

Startling Scripture Testimony Touching Every Feature of This Remarkable Phenomena.

For the past few years a wave of spiritism has been sweeping over the civilized world. The great theme which has largely led to the prominence of this subject is a desire of the part of millions to learn the condition of their departed dead.

Many of the world's bright lights, Professors, Doctors of Divinity, and the knighted scientists of Great Britain, together with many of the world's largest magazines and newspapers are heralding the claims of spiritism.

In Casino Theatre, Monday evening, August 8, at 8 o'clock, Mr. George Young, the widely known lecturer and Bible expositor, will deliver an illustrated lecture upon "Spiritism: Is it of God or of the Devil?" Nearly every feature of Spiritism will be examined from the standpoint of the Bible, and will include an examination of the claims of the mysterious communications from the unseen world, throwing light of a most startling nature upon the claims and manifestations of Spiritism and Psychic Research.

This lecture is fully illustrated. The Bible pictures and scripture texts will be illuminated upon the screen, making something definite and realistic in the manner of positive Bible presentation. The lecture is under the auspices of the International Bible Students' Association. Seats are free and no collection is taken.

Guards Defeat C.E.I. In Good Exhibition

Before a fair attendance of spectators, the C. E. I. and Guards were the contestants in last evening's football match, which was won by the latter with a score of 1 to 0. The game all through was a good exhibition, and considerable enthusiasm was displayed by those who witnessed the contest. In the first half both teams worked hard and got in good combination work, the C. E. I. having, if anything, the best of the game, but owing to the Guards' defence were unable to produce results. The Guards also made several attempts on Smith, but failed to score, till two minutes before half time, a penalty was awarded against Max Churchill, which on being placed by Charles Quick, was saved by Smith, but slipped from his hands as he was in the act of clearing to safety and the referee awarded the Guards the goal. In the second half there was considerable excitement at times, both teams working hard to score, but failed to reach the objective in this period and the game closed with Guards 1, C.E.I. 0.

The games scheduled for next week will be as follows:—
Tuesday—Highlanders vs. Cadets.
Wednesday—Star vs. B. I. S.
Thursday—Feldians vs. Briton.
Friday—Saints vs. Guards.

As the C. of E. Orphanage Garden Party takes place on Wednesday, it is likely the Star-B.I.S. game will be postponed.

Mt. Cashel Lottery Drawn Monday Night

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Mount Cashel Building Committee was held last night in the B. I. S. Music Room, the Chairman, Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., M.H.A., presiding. All arrangements in connection with the lottery were completed, and the drawing of prizes will take place in the Mount Cashel Recreation Hall on Monday night at 8 o'clock. The drawing is open to the public and the result will be awaited with much interest.

AT THE COUNCIL

The Legislative Council met yesterday afternoon and cleared up practically all business before them. The third reading of the Railway Bill went through, and the Bell Island Ore Tax Bill was put through all its stages. The Warehouse Receipts Bill is before a Select Committee and Hon. Mr. Browning's Bill concerning Banks and Chattel Mortgages was read a first time. The Council adjourned until Monday.

AT THE HOUSE

The House of Assembly met yesterday at 3.15.

The leader of the Opposition, Sir M. P. Cashin, rose to ask the Prime Minister about the closing of the House. In his opinion the House should not close but adjourn for a period of some months in order that the House may deal with any situation that may arise. If the Government did not agree to this, the Opposition would have to keep the House open as long as possible.

The Prime Minister said that he did not see the necessity to keep the House open. It was the intention of the Government to convene another session in the second week in January and thought this plan would be in the country's best interests.

Mr. Higgins agreed with Sir M. P. Cashin and said that if his suggestion was agreed to the remaining orders on the paper could be cleaned up in five minutes, otherwise he thought it his duty to keep the House open.

Hon. Mr. Coaker did not take such a pessimistic view of the situation as the leader of the Opposition. He thought that if the House were open in the Fall, the matters which might be forced upon it might be treated in a political way rather than a business way. He would recommend that a committee from both sides of the House be appointed, and then if this Committee thought it advisable for the House to meet during the Fall, let it recommend it. Mr. Coaker would not like to have important matters fought out on party lines as they had been the past four months. He thought that shore fish would open at $6 per qtl. and Labrador at $5 and he was optimistic that matters would right themselves.

Sir John Crosbie wanted an adjournment until late in October. He expected a crisis would arise about that time.

The Prime Minister then suggested that as the Opposition had brought on this plan without notice, the Government would have an answer by Monday. In the meantime he suggested that the estimates be cleared up, and some rates in the Postal Telegraph Dept. were passed, the Leader of the Opposition objecting to further progress until the Government had given an answer to the adjournment proposal.

The House adjourned at 6.45 until Monday at 3.

Empire Hymn

To be sung after "God Save the King," to the same tune.

God save our Empire grand;
May it united stand.
While time endures.
Give us prosperity,
Wisdom and purity,
In all our lands and seas
May freedom reign.

Our ships on every sea,
Keeping the highways free
For all the world;
Peace ships, though warships, these,
Guarding the seven seas;
Where'er our flag's unfurled
Let right prevail.

Union of nations free,
Working in harmony;
One flag; one king.
Help us make good laws;
Help us keep our laws;
In all our lands and seas
Uphold the truth.

EDUCATION

Pleads for Greater Interest in the Subject

(To the Editor)

Dear Sir,—If, as John Dewey has stated, "all that society has accomplished for itself is put through the school at the disposal of its future members" how important is it that our school system be the very best.

Again, if the progress of a country depends upon the education of its young those of us who have any vision whatsoever can see only the one word "retrogression" written across "Britain's oldest Colony," when we consider that the greatest movement ever made in the interest of education in this country is being, at present, so violently opposed.

I refer now to the work of the Minister of Education, Dr. Barnes, a man who has been a teacher in the outport schools, who understands what the teacher has to contend with and is fully alive to the needs of the rising generation.

Dr. Barnes has seen the need of the Supervisor or better still the "Helping Teacher," one whose work is not merely to walk in the schoolroom, give some sort of a test and pass on again, leaving neither the teacher nor scholars any better for the visit. The work of the Supervisor is to help make school work more practical, more interesting and to give to the younger teachers the full benefit of knowledge gained both from experience and instruction.

If some of the people who are now opposed to Dr. Barnes' plan of action were placed in a small outport school and compelled to exist on 5 per cent. of their present salary, with little or no social life, their one centre of interest being the school, we think they would soon be amongst Dr. Barnes' strongest supporters.

Surely we must be a laughing-stock for neighbors, Canada and the United States, when they read our papers and see the ridiculous objections raised against the present educational movement.

Millions of dollars can be expended on railways, war memorials, but when it comes to Education our patriotic (?) countrymen object.

Young Newfoundlanders! The children of other countries may have the full benefit of educational research but you must adhere to the "cut and dried" system of your forefathers. Education for you is a luxury while for others it is a necessity.

Education is not in itself a cure for everything, but it is a necessary accompaniment for every kind of special uplift, therefore every advance made in that direction should receive the support of every right-thinking citizen of Newfoundland.

Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor,

I remain,

Yours truly,

M.B.

OBITUARY

MRS. ADAM GOODYEAR

Dear Mr. Editor,—Will you kindly permit me space in the columns of your paper to record the death of Mrs. Adam Goodyear, who died at Little Catalina on May 26th after a short illness of five days. Mrs. Goodyear was of a very cheerful disposition and was loved by all who knew her. She was ever ready to lend a helping hand in anything that tended to the good of either friends or strangers, and will long be remembered by her many acts of kindness. At her home (Waterville, Smith Sound) she unsparingly threw herself into any activity that meant progress for the Church and Sunday School in which she was according to her opportunities a very zealous worker.

That such a one should be permitted such a short career in life mystifies us. We can't understand. We simply say "God's way is best" and leave it all in his hand, for we know that heaven will recompense our pain.

These beautiful lines of the poet give us much consolation:

It may be in the better land—
We'll read the meaning of our tears
And there, sometime, we'll understand.

Silently the shades of evening
Gather round my lonely door;
As it falls it leaves before me
That face that I shall see no more.

Oh! Not lost, but gone before me,
She will never be forgot.
Sweet her memory to the lonely,
In my heart 'twill perish not.

She leaves to mourn her a husband, father, mother, five brothers, four sisters and a large circle of friends.
To them we tender our deepest sympathy.

Boys and Girls

A fat baby is considered, by most mothers, as a healthy baby, but this is not in all cases so. The fat baby may be healthy, but he may also be unhealthy. He may have put on fat at the expense of bone and muscle, and an overfed baby is as much in need of a change in diet as a thin one.

There should be an all round growth in a baby to be at his best. A too fat child has often a poorer chance in case of severe illness than one who is considerably thinner. Don't forget that your baby may come of a family naturally small of stature or of slender build, even though perfectly healthy. If he does you cannot expect such a child to weigh as another who comes of tall or stout parents.

The most variation and the least gain will probably be in the period from the sixth to the tenth month, for then the baby is busier getting teeth than at any other period. You may take it for granted that he will gain little or no weight while a tooth is coming through, but even if he loses for a couple of weeks and yet seems fairly well, you should not worry. He will pick up quickly.

OBITUARY

JOSIAH PENNEY.

It is with profound regret that I record the death of one of our well-known and respectable young men from this place, in the person of Josiah Penney, who passed peacefully away on July 25th. He being an industrious and energetic young man left his home for Halifax to seek employment last October, 1920, but owing to the depression which exists in many countries and work closing down he was laid off and after prolonged consideration he came to the conclusion to return home again, but sad to say that shortly after his arrival, he began to feel the first effects of that fatal disease which followed to his death. However in spite of this dread disease, he bore his sickness patiently, and was persistently looking forward to the hour when the summons of death would be issued, so that he go to dwell in that blessed haven of rest where sickness doth not prevail, and where diseases and death are eliminated. Although in the bloom of life, as he had not reached the age of nineteen, he gave up the world and the fleeting things therein, and resigned himself to his Master's will. He leaves to mourn his sad loss, a father, who is at Labrador engaged in the fishing

Health Hints

Nurse gives this ointment as one that is good to have on hand in cases of burns or scalds. It is simply zinc oxide mixed either with olive oil or castor oil. It should be mixed into a thick salve. Spread thickly on a soft linen cloth and lay on the scald or burn. It is also splendid to use for a cut. Keep it in a little jar with a wide mouth and in a convenient place ready for an emergency.

To extract a splinter or a thorn from the fingers, nearly fill a small neck bottle with very hot water and then press the affected parts tightly over the neck of the bottle so as to prevent the steam from escaping. This will soften the flesh and draw the splinter to the surface. If you have trouble with warts apply muriatic acid to the warts several times a day and they will soon disappear. Apply the acid with a toothpick, just touching the warts with it.

Industry, mother, two sisters, three brothers and a large number of friends. May his soul rest in peace.

A FRIEND.

A Common Sense Sermon.

No sane man would light his pipe with a ten dollar bill, but often a light for a pipe has cost not ten dollars but millions. One match—one burning cigar or cigarette stub—the hot ashes of one pipe—will do damage that can never be repaired.

To a thoughtless man a forest fire is nothing but a blaze—spectacular, as if he put his hand in his pocket but of no real importance. To a man who thinks a forest fire is a national catastrophe. In a forest fire he sees not merely trees burning, but dollars and cents—houses and homes—fishing boats and stages—bences and fuel—food and clothes.

A forest fire, once started, can destroy a couple of hundred square miles of forest in a few hours—and we've had fires that swept over larger areas than that.

Let's look at fire of that kind for a few minutes, and see what went up in smoke beside a few trees.

Scattered around this island there are about a thousand small sawmills, harbours second to none—and after some supporting several families throughout the year; some giving work to a few men during the slack winter months; all adding to the comfort and prosperity of the people of this country. That patch of forest would keep all these small mills busy for TEN YEARS.

If every fishing vessel and boat on our waters was sunk, the timber from that patch of forest would rebuild them—and leave plenty to spare for stages and flakes. Turned into lumber it would build a home for years ago. Furthermore, there are EVERY FAMILY in NEWFOUNDLAND. Turned into firewood, it square miles in this island that they cook the food and warm the houses of all our people for five years. Turned into paper, it would supply a large mill for ten years, ensuring a livelihood for over TWO THOUSAND

FAMILIES and putting not less than TWENTY-FIVE MILLION DOLLARS into our pockets in wages alone. That's part of what the fool with a match stole from us. He robbed every man, woman and child in the Island of MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS just as surely as if he put his hand in their pocket and took out twenty five dollar bills. And that's only one fire—and we've had many. If the timber destroyed by fire in the past twenty-five years could be restored it would make Newfoundland the most prosperous country in the world. Properly handled, it would supply all the lumber this country needs, and we could supply raw material for half a dozen large paper mills. NEVER.

It could be sold as it stood for a sum that would pay off our national debt, and leave money in the treasury that, if expended in public works, would give us a system of roads and harbours second to none—and after that the industries using the timber would provide a safe and permanent livelihood for ONE IN EVERY FIVE FAMILIES IN THIS COUNTRY. That's done with, however—gone beyond recall. Once destroyed, for ever, these can never be brought back. You may be told that the trees will grow again. They may, but you or our waters was sunk, the timber from any man living to-day will not stay that patch of forest would rebuild them—and leave plenty to spare for stages and flakes. Turned into lumber it would build a home for years ago. Furthermore, there are EVERY FAMILY in NEWFOUNDLAND. Turned into firewood, it square miles in this island that they cook the food and warm the houses of all our people for five years. Turned into paper, it would supply a large mill for ten years, ensuring a livelihood for over TWO THOUSAND

The fishery is the life of our Island. Without forests there would be no fishery. We must have wood for our boats and stages; for the boxes and barrels in which part of the catch is shipped; for vessels that carry it to distant markets. Even the fool who carelessly starts a fire must go to the forest for the match with which to start it. The forests are ours, and yet not ours. They are ours to use but not to abuse—to enjoy but not to destroy. We are tenants, not owners. The good things of earth are ours to hold in trust for generations yet unborn—to use and enjoy during our lifetime and to hand down carefully preserved to those who come after us. A man to our national prosperity as the who destroyed a house because he practically unnoticed little blaze that was going to move to another would wipe out a couple of hundred square miles of forest. In a few years the city rose again, greater and better, but what will you call a man who wantonly destroys the forests that mean life to our people for ages to come? Remember, the fishery is the life of our country—and the forests are the life of the fishery. NO FORESTS—NO FISHERY.

Fires mean unemployment—loss of fertility of the soil—poverty—national bankruptcy. A treeless country is a hopeless country. Who wants to live in a desert? The Woes of Mrs. Newlywed. "How many I clean and press hair bows?" asked Mrs. Newlywed. "Have the teakettle boiling and hold the ribbons over the steam until all the wrinkles have disappeared. Then press with an iron, between cloths," said Mrs. Neighbor.

Let us not always say: "Spite of the flesh to-day I strove, made head, gained ground upon the whole." As the bird wings and sings Let us cry: "All good things are ours, nor soft helps flesh more now Than flesh helps soul!"

The gladness of the heart is the life of man, and the joyfulness of a man prolongeth his days.

Day . By . Day

(BY J. R. SMALLWOOD)

When the army is all together it will march across the American continent to Washington, D.C., and there appeal directly to the United States government. "General" Coxey will be leader on the march, and spokesman in Washington.

The army is comprised of unemployed in United States, and Coxey is a veteran labor leader in that country. He will be remembered as organizer of "Coxey's army," some years ago, when he led a similar body of men to Washington and demanded work.

There are over 5,000,000 men out of work in the United States to-day, and so Coxey will have lots of potential recruits. The fact that the workers have all kinds of confidence in Coxey will result in a much bigger army than last time, no doubt.

I am here quoting two remarkable statements by two remarkable men, one of England and one of America. Coming from these men, the statements are truly remarkable. Had some labor leader uttered them they would probably have been set down to the rantings of a demagogue. Here they are:

Chas. Schwab, the American multi-millionaire capitalist: "I believe the time has arrived when labor must have a voice in industry, and that we must meet labor as equals."

Arthur Kitson, the Englishman: "The time is not far distant when the labor of one per cent. of the population will probably be sufficient to supply the needs of the entire community. The trouble is that with the development of science and invention production has outgrown the old economic system under which wealth has been distributed for the past two centuries. The world is now ripe for the introduction of an entirely new system of wealth distribution, and until this is established we are not likely to have any final settlement of our industrial troubles."

That is to say, the time is now ripe for the workers in industry to have

SCOTT DECLARES IT TOOK ALL HIS GRIT TO STAY ON HIS JOB

New Brunswick Man Says It Took A Real Medicine To Reach His Case.

"I am ready to go to the limit in endorsing Tanlac," said Arthur Scott, of Randolph, N.B. "It took a good medicine to reach my case, as I had suffered continually from the worst kind of stomach trouble for over two years. What little I ate formed in a lump and felt as heavy as lead, and sometimes there was a thickness across my chest that made it hard for me to get my breath. It took all of my grit to stay on the job, as I was almost played out, which was natural, for I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good."

"Everybody tells me now that I am the picture of health and I believe them, for I never felt better in my life. Tanlac took hold of me right from the start, gave me an appetite, toned up my stomach and just made me feel good from head to foot. It's a fact I can do more work now in one day than I used to be able to do in two, and not only that but I am not near as tired when night comes, either. When it comes to building a man up and making him feel fine Tanlac's in a class by itself."

equal say, at least, in the direction of industry, and to share in the profits of industry with the capitalists of industry. To be short, the time is ripe for industrial democracy.

Answers to a questionnaire sent out by the Ontario Medical Association to the doctors throughout the province as to what would be considered the average number of liquor prescriptions necessary to write per month for internal use were received from about eight hundred doctors.

The average, as given by the medical men, was 17.

The medical profession of Ontario is declared to be "sick and tired of being official bartenders for the province."

No signs yet of the local fraternity getting sick and tired of being bartenders. Guess there's too much money in that business.

China doesn't want the Anglo-Japanese treaty to be re-signed, Hsu Shih Chang, president of China, has appealed to the workers of Great Britain for their assistance in preventing the signing of the obnoxious treaty. Seems to me as if the only ones who want that treaty to be signed again are the Japanese junkers, the English junkers, the French junkers, and no one else. The British colonies are dead set against it, China is dead set against it, America is dead set against it. The only trouble is that according to Lord Birkenhead, the Treaty has to run on for another year, whatever people think at present.

Every man who loves his country should step on the sentiment brought forward by some members of the House of Assembly, that the Education grant be reduced. It should not be reduced. We are spending little enough as it is, on our education, and to talk of reducing it is not only unwise, but criminal. Education is the one hope of progress in Newfoundland. To deliberately throttle education, by cutting the grant that makes it possible, is the policy of those who think too little of the future.

In the first game the B.I.S. and C.E.I. were seen in action and after a fair exhibition the Irish team won by a score of 4-0. In the second game between the Cubs and Red Lions, the match was called in the 3rd innings owing to darkness setting in. The score then stood 3-2 in favour of the Lions, and as a five innings game must be played to a finish the game will be played on Tuesday evening, when fans are assured a good contest. It is likely the much discussed Canadian-City match will be played on Monday, but nothing definite has been decided as yet.

ADVOCATE FINDS YOUNG CHINAMAN WHO IS GENIUS

Crowds View Samples Of His Work In Shop Window.

Genius, latent if undeveloped, is attributed a young Chinaman of this city by art critics who this morning examined samples of his drawing.

David Fong is the artist. He is a young man of about twenty, and is not long in the city from Canton, China. He is a waiter at the King Cafe, of which his father is manager.

David draws with Chinese pencil and powder. His specialty is portrait work, and while he can draw from life he usually draws from photograph, enlarging the portrait greatly. His reproduction is declared to be a marvel of accuracy and art.

Questioned by the Advocate, which "discovered" him, David Fong told about his drawing in as good English as he could muster. He was born in Canton and went for one year to an art school there, where he acquired his knowledge of technique. He is a Bible student at the Anglican Cathedral Bible Class, and is now engaged at a portrait of the lay head of that class.

Samples of the young Chinaman's work, displayed this morning in the window of T. A. McNab, the automobile agent, Water Street, attracted considerable attention.

David Fong tells the Advocate in answer to a question, that next month he will be able to execute any work of portrait drawing that may be submitted to him.

Ambrose Guy, Royal Nfld Regiment, Pte. Geo. Rose, Royal Nfld Regiment. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. A. ## Seaman Is Lost Overboard At Sea

The schooner David Morris, Capt. Griffiths, 35 days from Cadiz, reached port on Thursday evening with sail to A. S. Rendell & Co. The vessel experienced head winds all through the voyage, and very little progress could be made. On Tuesday last Seaman G. Franklin, whilst doing some work aloft, was struck by a gale and knocked into the sea. There was a heavy sea running at the time, but the vessel was brought around in quick time, and a ladder was thrown to the drowning man, but being unable to swim he could not reach it. In the meantime preparations were made to launch the boat but she was stove in against the ship's side. Nevertheless the crew rowed to the place where the unfortunate seaman was last seen, and in spite of the fact that their boat was in a sinking condition, made a thorough search finding the ladder, but no trace of Franklin could be found, and it is believed that after struggling for his life he eventually sank before his shipmates could rescue him. The accident cast a gloom over the vessel and Capt. Griffiths and crew feel very keenly the sad happening. The deceased was a native of London, where the news of his sudden passing will come as a severe blow to his wife and family.
